Course Requirements:

1. Weekly writing responses
2. Oral Presentation
3. Mid-Term Exam
4. Term Paper

Final Grade:

1. Weekly writing responses 10%

Students are expected to come to class prepared. This means they must read the material, as indicated on the accompanying syllabus, and participate in class discussions.

For each text read, students will be required to hand in Transcription Notes. This means you are to choose and write out in their entirety three (3) sentences or paragraphs or verses which you consider especially significant to understanding the work being discussed that week in class.

After each quote, free-write about what is important and/or significant about the passage. Do these select passages act as a key to unlocking the meaning of the text? Do they cause a personal reaction, emotionally, intellectually?

These Transcription Notes will not be corrected (for grammar, spelling, etc.) nor will they be graded. But they must be handed in on the day we read the specific text and they constitute 10% of the final grade. Points will be deducted for Notes handed in late or not at all.

Please e-mail the Transcription Notes to me in the body of the mail – not as attachments -- before the start of every class.

2. Oral Presentation 20%

The students (either on their own, or in couples) will choose one additional reading, marked with an asterisk (*), from the syllabus, and will present it in class (up to 20 minutes). Students will choose their readings by our second meeting (3.11). Students will email me a summary of their presentation up to three days (by Friday, 12:00 PM) before their class presentation.

3. Mid-Term Exam 30%

The mid-term exam covers material from part I, “Basic Concepts and Theories in Political Psychology”. The mid-term exam will consist of four questions.

4. Term Paper 40%

The term paper is intended to provide you with the opportunity to more fully explore your class discussion topic, as well as examine it from a more empirical perspective. The term paper from the beginning of the course through week 12, and it will consist of twelve research questions.
