Examinations

During each semester, there will be two written exams, and one oral exam.

Oral Exam- Examining a student's knowledge of Hebrew through writing is one parameter. Another important parameter is oral comprehension and speech. To this end, there will be an oral exam whose purpose is to examine the student's achievements in fluent speech.

Each student must give a verbal lecture to the class in Hebrew, lasting approximately 10 minutes, using the vocabulary learned in class, and if possible, adding up to 3-5 new words (which will be presented to the class with an English translation). The oral exam score is divided into two parts, the written-out lecture and the oral lecture, and will reflect the grammar, the linguistic richness, the content of the presentation, and the flow of speech.
